The Big Wheels . . .

Mr. A. Gordon Brooks, Principal, and Mr. M. G. White, Assistant Principal of Jefferson

Because we shall celebrate this summer Roanoke's 75th birthday, we at Jefferson have naturally looked back too with interest upon our small beginnings.

We find that Roanoke High School was established in the fall of 1891 with twenty-three students, all girls, two teachers, and three rooms in the old Commerce School, which stood on the corner now occupied by the Post Office. For page two of the ACORN, Ray Johnson, has sketched a picture of Commerce. On the first of the class-work pages, we list some of the courses offered. Completion of all was required for graduation. Had our present unit system been in effect, twenty-four units would be the equivalent. The first graduating class, in 1894, was composed of seven girls. One member, Miss Alto Funkhauser, later taught at Jefferson and now lives in retirement at her home on Albermarle Avenue.

As Roanoke grew, so did the high school. From three rooms at Commerce, it was scheduled to move in 1893 to the second floor of a carriage factory on Church Avenue. But, as bad luck would have it, the building burned the day before the fall term began. However, school opened on schedule in temporary Salem Avenue quarters. Then, back to an enlarged Commerce School. The next move, in 1899, was to a new high school now known as the Administration Building. Since the Auditorium-Study Hall directly faced the jail just across the alleyway, inmates and students had opportunity for a continuous exchange of greetings.

In 1924, our present building was ready, and Roanoke High School changed its name to Jefferson. Now we're busy with plans for our new Jefferson—of few steps, more classrooms, larger Auditorium, Gym, a cafeteria with windows and a campus.

Now, sixty-three years after our first class of seven received their diplomas, we have a class of four hundred. As it has always been, the winning of that cherished diploma is still the goal of every student. June 7th will be the great day for the Class of 1957.

To Mr. Richard P. Via, Director of Activities

We proudly dedicate our 1957 YEARBOOK.

We honor you, Buck, for many reasons:

We know that you love Jefferson and devotedly serve it, giving to our school and to us many extra hours of your time and your unfailing interest.

We honor you for the kind of person you are in the community, especially because of your life in your home, in church leadership and in your continued academic study.

We are grateful to you for the example your life sets for us. Not only do you do your work well, but you do it always in good humor with a smile, a wave of the hand, or a friendly clap on the shoulder, as if you really enjoy collecting and accounting for thousands of dollars every term, helping us find lost books, or making detailed plans for school activities.

We are grateful to you. We honor you. To show our affection, we dedicate to you the ACORN OF 1957.

. . . Lending a Helping Hand.

The GUIDANCE DEPARTMENT serves Jefferson's students. The members of the department are always willing to advise us in selecting a college or a career, and to furnish information regarding scholarships and job opportunities. They are available for conference to discuss the student's schedule and plan our future work in high school. On request tests are administered to discover a student's natural ability and the work for which he is best suited. Everything possible is done to assure that the student will be satisfied in the college or career he has chosen.

Mrs. Field, Dean of girls, and Mr. Bishop, Dean of boys, are in charge of the attendance offices. They keep records of each student's absences during the year. Another of their duties is disciplining those who do not abide by the school rules. Mrs. Field has a helper in her office each period of the day. This girl is in charge of all the hall monitors that period.

All in all, the Guidance Department serves a very important function at Jefferson.

Homework, Themes . . .

Many courses are offered at Jefferson—courses for college-bound students, for professional workers and for homemakers training us to take our places in daily life, in Roanoke and in America. Not everyone can take all—business, vocational, academic and general courses—but Jefferson offers whatever subjects are needed by each person.

The 1957 Jeffite doesn't realize how lucky he is, compared with a student in the 1890's. Now certain subjects in the basic fields are required for graduation. To make up the remaining 16 credits, the Jeffite may take electives of his own choosing. This was not the case in the early days of Roanoke High School. In 1894, for example, all courses taught were required for graduation. These included four years of Latin through Virgil, three years of German, two years of French, four years each of History, English and Mathematics, and both Physics and Chemistry. Thus an Academic or college preparatory schedule was the only one available for the high school student. If a pupil could not measure up to these prescribed requirements or if he felt that the curriculum offered did not prepare him for earning a livelihood, his only alternative was to drop out of high school. Because educators have realized that the public schools have an obligation to all youth—not just to the college-bound group—they have arranged, through the years, an ever-widening curriculum. We are very grateful for this understanding and provision for our needs. First a Commercial Department was added; in 1909, the first small library. In subsequent years we have been offered opportunity for study in other Vocational fields such as Welding, Auto Mechanics, Electricity, Graphic Arts, Woodworking and Metal Craft, Homemaking, Distributive Education, where students combine school work with active down-town experience, receiving both school credits and salary, Physical Education, in which we learn not only calisthenics but organized sports and folk dancing, and receive training in rules of health and first aid. In addition, we now have opportunity to take lessons in Art and Music, in instrumental, choral or appreciation classes. We sincerely feel that our participation in the many aspects of the modern high school curriculum make us more aware of our opportunities and more cognizant of our responsibilities as young adults.

. . . Group Activities

In these pages, 12-18, we present to you pictures that illustrate the work of students in our school. (Page 12, upper left.) In the LIBRARY J. Baggett and G. Elliott look up publication sources in The Reader's Guide, an important aid to all students doing research. At Jefferson we have a choice of FRENCH, LATIN, or SPANISH. The study of a foreign language promotes straight thinking and draws us closer to our world friends. It gives us new ways of expressing our feelings. The next picture shows Madame Fallwell explaining verb endings to her third year French students. Jefferson is one of the few high schools to offer four years of Latin, which we feel is the basis for all languages and an essential in translation of modern romance languages. Lower left, Miss Johnson explains a translation to her Caesar class.

Three big related fields are BIOLOGY, PHYSICS and CHEMISTRY. PHYSICS is the study of heat, light, sound, electricity and mechanics, understanding techniques of experiments and nature of proof, always trying to prove a theory or to work problems. To illustrate, Mr. Harker shows the mechanics of an angle of refraction to L. P. Roberts, B. White, J. Walker, P. Hammond and S. Heslep.

CHEMISTRY is the study of the composition of matter. Our long hours of study to prove an idea right are often accompanied by horrible odors, ghastly colors and the fear that something has gone wrong. Using a special "code" unfamiliar to non-Chem students, P. McVeigh, N. Havens, J. Akers and P. Drott are working on an interesting experiment. These three sciences emphasize to us the value of knowing and understanding our environment. They make us appreciate the great world of, as yet unexplored, science, of which we are, even so, a part.

Compasses, pencils and numbers are important tools of all MATH classes. Here we apply what we learn to our daily lives and to the possibilities of our future. S. Angle in the center right photo explains to his class the construction of his problem. The study of ENGLISH gives each Jeffite a better appreciation of the world literature as well as a knowledge of grammar usage and speech. S. Lunsford, D. Labson and D. Altizer examine what they fondly hope is a model of Macbeth's fortress on Dun-sinane Hill.

Written Lessons . . .

MUSIC CLASSES train our minds to appreciate different types of music—Classical, Jazz or Popular. By increasing our knowledge and by practice, we develop our abilities, understanding and enjoying of music as a serious study or as a recreation. The top picture shows Mr. White giving instruction to clarinet players R. Coverstone, J. Prillaman, G. Kelly and L. Crouch. Transferring one's feelings to the canvas helps us to develop creative ability. Besides offering instruction, the ART department is frequently called on for pictures for the Yearbook, Magazine, Newspaper, props for assemblies and plays, campaign signs, festival decorations and so on. Imaginative minds find a way to express themselves, as we see four art students sketching from life. A. Booth takes her turn as model. HISTORY, a study of man's actions through time, gives us a basis of understanding of not only our country's development but of that of our whole ONE WORLD. We continually resolve to preserve our American heritage as we study how dearly it has been achieved. In the lower picture, C. Huffman points out a Virginia city being studied to Mrs. Field, V. Rogers, B. Davis and members of the class. In D. E. the students learn the principles of selling, display, stock-keeping, customer relations, etc., in the classroom, then put them to use at work in various stores throughout the community. M. Moore and S. Waggoner explain to D. E. students the operation of a cash register. In the fall, a study of the OLD TESTAMENT is offered; in the spring, the NEW TESTAMENT. Our purpose is to understand better the Bible and the contributions of the Jewish people to Christianity. In the New Testament we study the life of Christ and the teachings He left to the people. We also study the life of Paul and the contributions he made to Christianity. In the top picture at the right, S. Slusher is taking her turn in conducting the class, explaining a Bible passage to her group.

Students are trained in classes in TYPING, SHORTHAND, BOOK-KEEPING and OFFICE PRACTICE to go from Jefferson directly into business or are prepared for further business training in college courses. Skill and accuracy are obtained through practice, with knowledge increasing day by day. L. Johnson and R. White take a timed writing in typing class. Becoming conscious of the importance of good speaking in everyday encounter, learning to express ideas well, taking an actual part in the theater, such as acting, working with sets, lights, costuming and make-up—all these abilities and many more are acquired in our SPEECH classes. Here a student is telling his version of a folk story.

Watching the Clock . . .

In HOME MAKING, boys and girls learn the responsibilities of caring for a home. We strive to learn a better way of living so that our homes and families may be more comfortable now and in years to come. The popular classes for boys illustrate the ever-widening of our curriculum. Home Ec classes study the planning and preparation of meals, clothing, the taking care of personal appearance, family relations and child care. Thus students become all-round home makers. S. Clifton is dressing the baby while N. Stafford and B. Burnett watch. Taking over the duties in the laundry are J. Yeatman, L. Koontz and M. King. During first period every day P. Hutts and C. Trussell attend to school business downtown, at the post office, Administration Building and at the bank. Here Pat delivers a package to Miss Donaldson. Many changes have been made in the HEALTH and PHYSICAL EDUCATION department since public school beginnings. Phys. Ed. is a required subject now for all students. No longer is it unladylike for girls to dress in shorts and participate in sports. There are many drills and organized games such as basketball, touch football, track, tennis, golf, wrestling, volleyball and tumbling, which not only develop our muscles but also encourage skills and sportsmanship. The pictures on the right illustrate only a few activities of the PHYSICAL EDUCATION department. First, in the two top pictures, boys demonstrate on the bar, while the girls line up for a relay. The lower pictures show three boys climbing up the ropes and in First Aid Class the girls are applying their knowledge in the use of bandages. Our DRIVER TRAINING PROGRAM is a welcome course insuring Roanoke of better drivers in the future. Students learn the mechanical features of a car as well as the skills of driving and all rules and regulations governing safe driving. On the opposite page, Mr. Byrd gives last minute advice and good wishes to a student before she takes her driver's license test.

. . . All Add Up To

Classes at Jefferson.

The VOCATIONAL DEPARTMENT offers boys training in a definite field of work—welding, machine shop, sheet metal, automotive mechanics, graphic arts, woodworking, electricity and mechanical drawing. Three pictures above show the work of Jefferson's Trade School. W. Plunkett works with the electronic ignition system. Upper right, P. Snellings and B. Carter work in the welding shop. Lower right, J. Hoal and R. Jenkins are setting type before printing a program for the last home football game of the season. And last but far from least in the life of Jefferson—Lights! Curtain! Another play begins. The audience sees a beautiful set, designed and built, staged and lighted by the STAGE CREW, which learns firsthand the technicalities of staging and timing. The stage crew is an important part of every play and assembly. Here, lower left, P. Morgan, B. Williams and M. A. Miller fix the curtain before this year's Saturday evening's production of the Senior Play, "Time out for Ginger."

. . . Behind the Scenes

Mrs. Doris Swanson and Mr. Richard Via

In the Activities Office, we find Mr. Richard "Buck" Via and Mrs. Doris Swanson counting the proceeds from the senior play. Handling money for all school activities is only one of the duties they perform. Books are distributed from this office, school supplies are sold, and business affairs for all organizations, sports, publications, and classes are managed. These and many other responsibilities are accomplished by the Activities Office to keep our school running smoothly.

Miss Chesney and Mrs. White, Jefferson's secretaries, stay on a busy schedule to follow their daily routine. They compile homeroom notices and attendance sheets, fix schedules, fill out college entrance forms, take care of school correspondence, assist Mr. Brooks and Mr. White, and handle telephone messages. They are prepared to meet any emergency that comes up in the office, where they can be found as they carry out their never-ending duties.

Mrs. Una V. White, left, came to Jefferson in 1954 from Forest Park Elementary School where she was secretary. Her son, Jerry, was graduated from Jefferson in 1956. Her husband, J. R. White, is our band director.

Miss Edna Chesney, right, an honor graduate of Randolph-Macon Women's College, came to Jefferson in 1946 from the American Viscose Corporation.

Looking Toward the Future . . .

As the SENIORS of 1957 leave Jefferson, the manifold experiences of high school days go with them, providing a firm foundation for future life.

Remembrances are vivid of their sophomore and junior years when studies, friendships, and school spirit assumed a new importance. Always was the senior admired and copied. Suddenly the underclassmen of yesterday find themselves the seniors of today.

Each member of the class begins to realize the familiar words, "when I grow up", are no longer as indefinite as they once were. Soon will come that day in June so long awaited—Graduation! For every Senior it will open a different door, but the years spent at Jefferson provide a common bond to hold the Class of '57 together always.

Marilou Hubbard awaits her cue backstage during the Friday evening performance of the Senior play, TIME OUT FOR GINGER.

Leading the Juniors . . .

Junior Class officers and sponsors are seen arranging the bulletin board to tell of the Junior Assembly, which, in spite of frantic rehearsals, was a huge success.

The Class of '58 has been bound together by new friends, studies, activities, and responsibilities brought by this Junior year.

The Junior-Senior Prom, that magic night when the gym was converted into a place of enchantment, is credited to the hard working members of the Junior Class. That spirit will be anticipated next fall when this year's Juniors acquire the role of Seniors. However, even while looking to the future, thoughts will often stray to memories of a wonderful and unforgettable Junior year at Jefferson.

. . . To Higher Goals.

. . . The Long Road Ahead

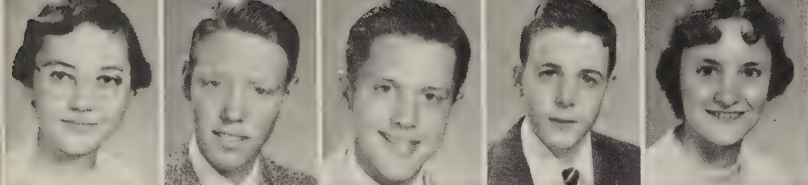

The officers of the Sophomore Class are Susie McAfee, Vice President; Beverly Dent, Secretary; Sara Urquhart, Treasurer; Harry Gamble, President; Mrs. Evelyn Giles, Advisor

Jefferson's Sophomore class, the largest in the history of the school, entered Jefferson, full of excitement and wonder.

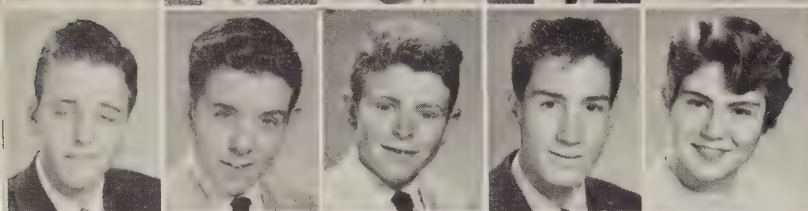

As the Sophs entered into their new life, they asked many questions and found themselves often confused. First impressions . . . so many people . . . so crowded . . . homework . . . two tests a day . . . pep rallies.

Immediately the Baby Jeffites entered into school activities. Games, meetings, homework, tests, cheering, all became a part of the Sophomore Year. The school became a friend and was no longer feared.

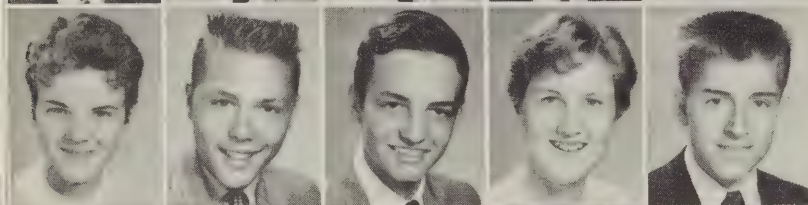

Study, exams, cram . . . the first year passes quickly . . . great expectations now rise for next year.

Keeping Things in Line . . .

Jefferson is the scene of numerous activities aside from the regular day of school. There are athletic events, dances, plays, and concerts for which our building must be ready.

We have a twenty-four hour maintenance staff who prepare the building for all these festivities.

Our cafeteria staff under the direction of Mrs. Ruth F. Davis serves lunches to three crowded lunch periods.

On the right are the head custodians, Mr. Nathaniel L. Carr and Mr. H. W. Monroe who retired January 30th.

Members of our capable maintenance staff, on the right, are our janitors, Mr. T. F. Denton, Mr. Edward Gillespie, Mr. Douglas Chubb, and Mr. Walter Walker.

Again this year Jefferson MAGICIANS, under the coaching of "Rudy" Rohrdanz and his able assistants, had a fine season, winning seven out of nine games, tying one with Fleming, and losing one to Kingsport.

The Fleming game was the most exciting of the season. With eight seconds remaining in the game, Shilling leaped into the air, hit Callis on the five-yard line as the ball tipped the fingers of a Fleming defender. Callis added the extra point on a "hand off" which tied the game and the City-County Championship.

After the Fleming game the Magicians easily conquered Halifax, and the following week end traveled to Kingsport with high hopes of returning victorious. After a slow start in the first half, the team came back fighting in the second half and out-played Kingsport, but couldn't quite overcome the first half score. It was the first and only loss of the season. In the following game, played at Victory Stadium, the Magicians conquered the Glass eleven. The Homecoming game with Andrew Lewis was to be played the following Friday night but, because of rain, was postponed twice, the second time indefinitely. The team went on to play Covington and to add another win to the impressive record. After this victory Jeffites traveled to Danville to play their last game before taking on arch rivals, Andrew Lewis. The Magicians conquered Danville and were looking forward to Andrew Lewis.

Coaches H. Sizer, T. C. Anderson, Rudy Rohrdanz

. . . Coaches Make the Team

The Jefferson eleven finally got the chance to play Andrew Lewis, the last game of the season. After the usual slow first half, the team came back to triumph over Andrew Lewis to wind up the season unbeaten in the state.

Many Magicians received positions on the City-County team, Western District team and many other awards.

Members of the Magicians to get on the City-County team were Warren Gardner, who was Co-Captain of the team, Kent McIlhany, Tommy Turner, and Tracy Callis. On the Western District eleven the Magicians placed four—Kent McIlhany, Warren Gardner, Tracy Callis, and Don Shilling, Co-Captain of the Jefferson team. On the second team were Clifford DeHaven and Carlton Waskey. Others receiving Honorable Mentions were Elliott Shaver, Jay Blackwood, and Butch Armistead. Tracy Callis, our rugged halfback, received many honors—among them, High Scorer, Best Defensive Player, Paul Martin Award, and the Clyde Cocke Trophy. Don Shilling received the Sportsmanship Trophy.

Kent McIlhany was the only one placed on the All-State team. Warren Gardner made the 3rd team and Elliott Shaver, Carlton Waskey, Tommy Turner, and Tracy Callis received Honorable Mentions.

Kent McIlhany also placed on the All-Group I Team, and made Honorable Mention, All-Southern Football Team.

The Jefferson Wrestling team, "The Red Raiders," did well in their regular season this year, and are expected to do even better next year, with several experienced wrestlers returning to the squad. The Raiders won four and lost four, but did well in post-season matches.

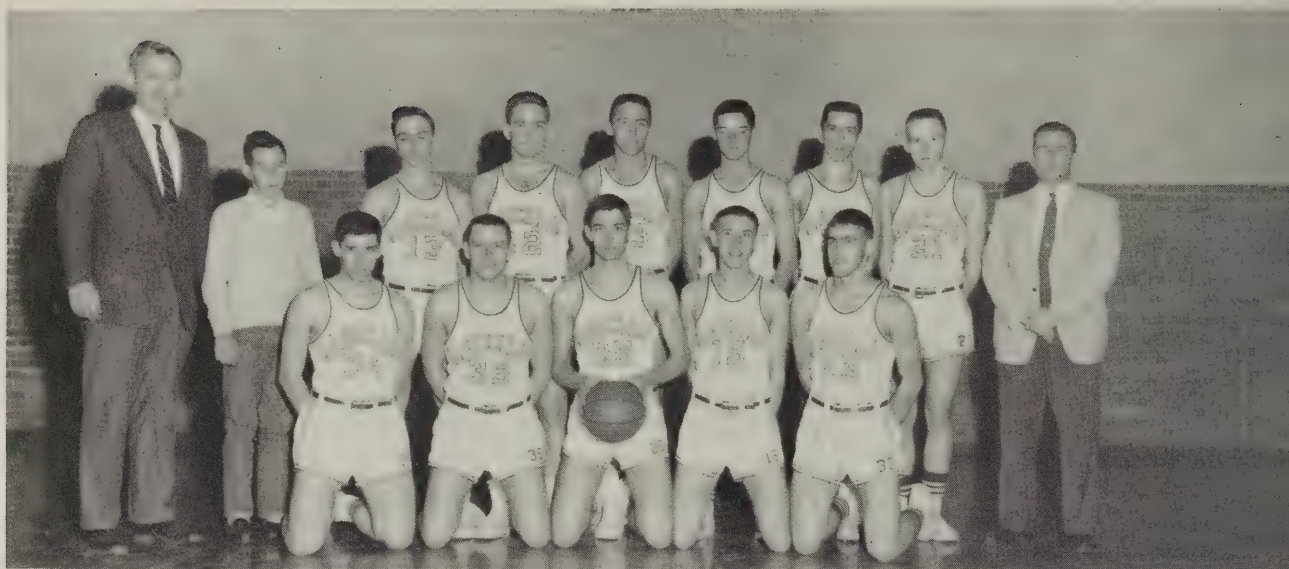

The team was hurt by losing two wrestlers because of injuries: Jimmie Orrell (123) and Pat Shaffner (135), who are both seniors. In addition six other seniors turned in their last appearance for the "Raiders." They are L. McMahon, L. Koontz, M. King, T. Copper, W. Gardner, and T. Turner.

Turner and Copper were undefeated. B. Wood, J. Economy, and T. Turner (heavyweight) are Western District Champions.

Turner was rated 3rd in the state and Wood 4th in the respective classes.

This year's basketball team, coached by Don Bartol, has turned in a good record.

They played many fine games, but the two most exciting were with Lynchburg and Kingsport.

The game with Kingsport see-sawed back and forth from the start. In the last seconds of the game Jack Taylor made a goal to win by two points.

The game with Lynchburg was given up by many who left the gym, but Steve Lindamood stole the ball and passed to Carlton Waskey, who had time for one shot, which he made—winning the game by one point.

The team went to Lynchburg for the District Tournament, losing to G. W. by one point. The following night they played Lewis, winning without trouble to wind up the season third in the Western District.

. . . Jeff's First Homecoming

This year for the first time Jefferson held a big celebration for Homecoming. Originally scheduled for October 26th, preparations were literally "rained away" twice. However, the rain finally ceased and Homecoming was planned successfully.

That night an exciting football game, and victory over Andrew Lewis, ended a wonderful celebration, Jefferson's first big Homecoming.

HONORS

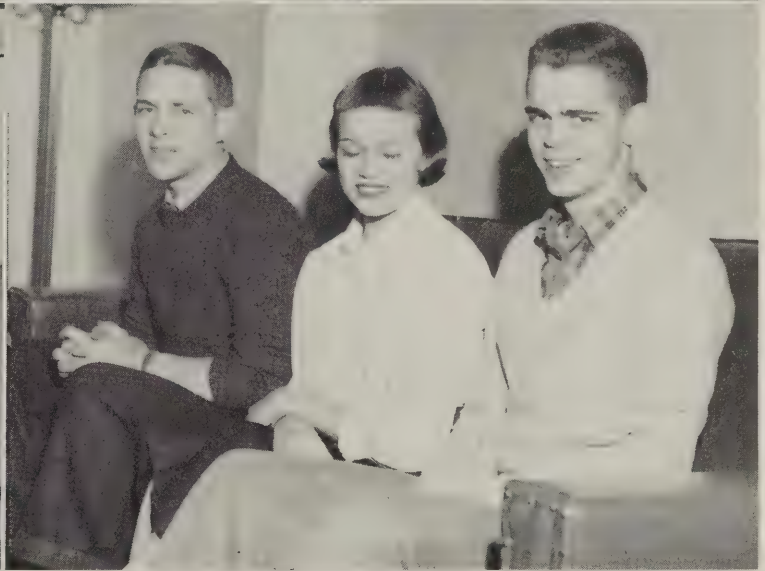

Many Jeffites have received honors this year. These two pages represent only a few.

Hubbard. All these girls were chosen by the student body. Top Right—Sally Clement referees a wrestling match between Preston Haupt and Ebbie Dillon in the Publications Assembly presented in October by the Jefferson News, Acorn Yearbook, and Acorn Magazine. Bottom Left—Sandy Leedy and Connie McAfee clown in the annual Senior Assembly in honor of Valentine's Day. They were jesters in the court of his majesty, Henry VIII.

Betty,
Certainly have enjoyed being in speech class with you. We've been through a lot & I know we'll never forget it.
Take care of ole' J.H.S. & I hope to see you this summer.

This year's recipient was Susie Heslep pictured left, above. This year three Jeffites were among the finalists in the National Merit Scholarship Program. They are (above) Dan Brown, Loretta Morris, and Billy Hoover.

Christmas Brings Serene Thoughts . . .

This year the beloved "Why the Chimes Rang" was presented at Jefferson for the 21st consecutive year. Top—Tommy Munson as Holgar, Martha Ann Miller as the Old Woman, Charles Bush as Uncle Bertel, and Hamp Frazier as Steen in a scene from the play. Many years ago when Roanoke became large enough to have a high school, Miss Cora Board became the first teacher and also the first French teacher. Two years of French were required, as well as several other languages for graduation.

Today under the direction of Madame Henriette Fallwell and Madame Lynn Eckman three years of French are taught at Jefferson.

In classes, students learn through homework, tests, and conversation in French. Every person in the department can have a French correspondent with whom he can exchange news and ideas.

All the classes have two representatives to talk with the officers of the French Club about new projects or parties. One of the main projects of the group is the support of the orphan in France, Christiane LeLong.

Some of the parties during the year included French, Spanish, and Latin clubs' picnic at Wasena Park and the Christmas party at the home of Nancy Walton. The party was a combination of games, songs sung in French, and skits, followed by delicious refreshments.

In April the students took part in a State Tournament, and those receiving top grades then competed on the national level.

Class representatives and officers of THE FRENCH CLUB are: E. Garber; B. Staton; G. McCown; M. Grasty; K. Davis; E. Masinter; J. Garrett, Treasurer; W. Perdue, President; S. Kraige, Vice-President; P. Cahill, Secretary; A. Pollard; J. Hylton; C. Epperson; H. Thrasher; J. McDaniel.

The French Club, the Fleur-de-Lys, meets on the second Tuesday of every month, with a large part of each meeting being conducted in French. At the meetings interesting speakers who have been to France or French countries talk. Movies are often shown and regular important business is carried on.

In 1931 Madame Fallwell started the L'Echo de Roanoke, one of the few French papers published in American high schools and 1957 winner of a First Place Award given by the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. The paper contains articles written by the students in French or English, news articles, comments and cartoons.

The study of LATIN has long been established as a necessity for a good education. Many activities have been added to the Latin Department. Among these are the publishing of the Latin paper, THE ROANOKE ROMAN, and the club for students taking Latin, THE JUNIOR CLASSICAL LEAGUE.

THE ROANOKE ROMAN is published twice a year by students, and is the winner of many journalism awards.

In the Latin club, members learn much about Roman civilization through speakers who have studied and traveled abroad. The club has many social gatherings, the last of which is always the spring picnic at Lakeside.

. . . For a Modern One.

The PAN-AMERICAN LEAGUE, founded March 30, 1943, is one of the largest, most active clubs at Jefferson.

In October, the P. A. L., with the Fleur-de-Lys, held a picnic at Wasena Park. At the November meeting, Miss Miriam Bowman, club advisor, took the members on a guided tour of Mexico by way of slides taken while she was a visitor there. The most beautiful feature of the annual Christmas Party was the singing of Christmas Carols in Spanish around the Madonna scene. The members broke and shared a traditional "pinata". During the week of April 14th, Pan American Week, the Spanish Department emphasized the spirit of goodwill among our twenty-one American nations. The last program was given in Spanish by Seniors. Jefferson has been fortunate in having Miss Lynne T. Case of Hollins College as student teacher.

Echoing Through . . .

The BAND, one of the newer organizations at Jefferson, was founded in 1936. Under the capable direction of Mr. J. R. White, the band has grown from twenty-six members in 1941 to eighty-four members. This year three majorettes were added, making a total of five.

The Band's activities are many and varied. Through all kinds of weather, during football season it led Jeffites in school songs. It traveled to Kingsport and Danville with the team and after the Kingsport game took part in the Annual Band Festival in Bristol. There Jefferson received the rating of 2nd in District 1.

Participating in pep assemblies, the annual Shrine game and the Santa Claus Parade were some of the highlights of the year.

This year Jefferson was host to the All-State Band, February 8th, 9th, and 10th. Two hundred and eight members, representing schools in the Western District, arrived in the rain Friday to begin a week end of hard practice. Twelve members, fortunate in making All-State Band, participated in the All-State Concert. They were Davey Myers, John Brust, Henry Ruse, Walter Weddle, Aldine Jones, Kenneth Fore, Ben Stone, Buzzy Ward, Ronald Lancaster, Jack Turner, Danny Paige, and Andy Christensen.

A pep band was very much in evidence during basketball season and after weeks of hard practice the band ended its busy year with an excellent Spring Concert.

The annual picnic was held in June, a proper reward for a hard-working group.

The CHOIR with one hundred and ten voices is the largest in Jefferson's history. Every day during the fourth period, faculty and students open their classroom doors to listen as the never-ending rehearsals go on. Mr. Griffey and the choir worked hard to make this year's choir better than ever.

No school year would be complete without the Christmas assembly and the beautiful background music of the Chimes assembly. "In Dulci Jubilo", "Ave Maria", "Twas the Night Before Christmas", and "Three Kings" were a few of the carols sung at Christmas. Caroling through the halls, at the Snow Queen Parade, participation in Christmas programs all go to put us in the Christmas mood.

The STUDENT GOVERNMENT Organization endeavors to promote better school spirit and the idea of self-government among Jefferson students. Student Government, under the guidance of Miss Moore and Mr. White, works busily on many projects. In September, we have Orientation Day for the sophomores and a tea for the faculty. Work on the Student Directory is started early in the fall. Football season means making pom-poms, providing buses for out-of-town games and the election of a Homecoming Queen. The Snow Queen Dance keeps us busy in December and in the spring, we have the annual Spring Banquet at which the results of the Student Government elections are announced.

Other activities include preparations for Honor Week, and Class Elections, responsibility for bulletin boards, keeping the point system up to date and offering the noon blessings each day during all three lunch periods.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION was introduced at Jefferson in 1939. This system not only enables students to hold a regular job while going to school, but also teaches in class the fundamentals of selling, customer relations, display and so on. After a half-day at school, D. E. students leave Jefferson to go to work.

The NATIONAL THESPIAN SOCIETY, Troop 1006, has again presented a successful season.

The first play of the year, "Time Out For Ginger", was sponsored by the Senior Class. For the first time in many years two separate casts were used.

Next, the annual Christmas Play, "Why the Chimes Rang", was given for the 21st consecutive time. The one-act play, "Miggles", given in an assembly, was the first play entirely acted and directed by the Thespians.

"High Window", this year's contest play, was entered in the Group I Western District One-Act Play Festival in Danville where it won a Distinguished Rating. Last, but not least, the Spring Play, "Song of Bernadette", was presented in May. This play was sponsored by the Speech Department.

So, Jefferson's Thespians have presented this year the expected good theatrical season—a year which included several "firsts".

In 1944, the FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA CLUB came into existence at Jefferson. To promote a growing appreciation of the joys and satisfactions of homemaking has been the goal of its members.

Under the sponsorship of Miss Charlotte Greeley and under the leadership of Phyllis Burnette, President, the F. H. A. has enjoyed a profitable year.

Among activities for the year were a tea and an open house, given for Orientation Day. Members enjoyed a bowling party in October and in November attended the Federation Meeting. A Christmas party was held in the Jefferson Home Ec. apartment. In the Spring, the future homemakers went on the annual picnic. Arrangements were made for girls to go to camp in June.

The members of the F. H. A. worked busily to achieve their goal. Living by their motto, "Toward New Horizons", they learned to appreciate the joys and satisfactions of homemaking.

The LIBRARY CLUB has been in existence for about ten years. Members of the club sponsor a greater interest both in reading books and learning how to care for them.

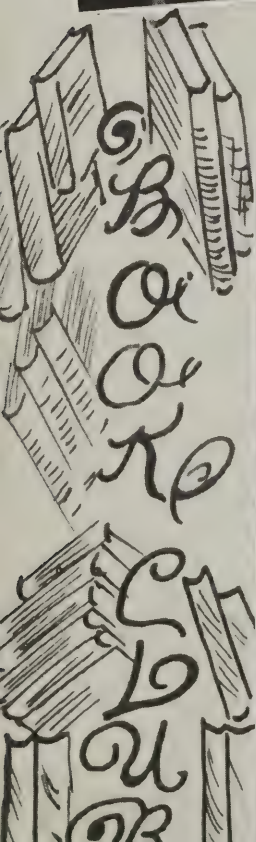

At the meetings students study the organization of library work, mending and marking books, and the mechanical work of readying books for shelving. The members give summaries of magazine articles that are of general interest to the group. The book committee reports on titles of new books, and also prepares reviews of old and new books that may later be publicized in the library. One of the main objectives of the club is to improve the library service of the school.

Working in the library and participating in the varied activities of the club provide much enjoyment. At the end of the year Jefferson's Library Club participates in an outing with the club members from other schools throughout the city.

For Young Men

This year 35 new members were inducted into the HI-Y at an impressive Fall service.

HI-Y CLUB is one of the character building elements in the lives of boys at Jefferson. Activities of the club this year include the following: Induction service for new members, held at Second Presbyterian Church; a Thanksgiving service, led by the Reverend Harry Gamble; held a rededication service the first meeting in January in which Dr. J. E. Stockman from St. Mark's Lutheran Church was guest speaker; delivery of baskets at Christmas to needy families; a Christmas party and supper for poor children, selling Christmas wrapping paper and toys as a money-raising project; a father-son banquet at the Roanoke Central YWCA; sponsorship of a basketball team, which was undefeated in league competition and participated in the State tournament in Richmond; also in the Homecoming Parade sponsored a float which tied for first prize; sent representatives to the Model General Assembly held in the Capitol at Richmond; placed in local restaurants small cards bearing a suggested blessing for Protestants, Catholics or Jews; and a spring outing at Camp Roanoke where the officers of the coming year were installed.

Sandy Mullen presided over the Induction Service, held for the fifth year at Second Presbyterian Church.

For the second year Junior and Senior girls were so interested in Y-TEENS, it was necessary to form two Senior Y-Teen groups. Senior Group I had all meetings at night at the YWCA. Senior Group II was a part-time dinner club, also meeting at the YWCA.

The Y-Teens share a common purpose, which is "To build a fellowship of women and girls devoted to the task of realizing in our common life those ideals of personal and social living to which we are committed by our faith as Christians."

The Y-Teen purpose is carried out through programs and projects. The Y-Teens of Group I had such programs as a movie on World Fellowship, a panel discussion on "Teenage Relations", and various skits.

Interesting programs of Group II were a talent show, a social worker who spoke on "Family Relations", and a fashion show from 1900 up to the present time.

The kindness and thoughtfulness of the Y-Teens is shown through their projects. The projects of the past year included filling a basket for the needy at Christmas; a Christmas party for the children at the Orphanage; and a welcome party for the Hungarian refugee teenagers in Roanoke.

The Y-Teens take a part in many activities such as a fashion show, a trip to Washington, D. C.; Camp Kiwanianna; and the National Convention of Y-Teens in New York City.

There is much fun in store for a Y-Teen member. Bermuda parties, hayrides, and pot luck suppers are just a few of the gay affairs shared.

The Spring Banquet brings a pleasant year to an end. Although Y-Teen meetings end, the Y-Teen spirit lives.

A club known as the Girl's Club was the forerunner of Jefferson's Y-Teens. Later the name was changed to the Girl's Reserve. In 1946 the term Y-Teens came into being all across the nation, and so it was at Jefferson. As the number of members increased, two clubs were formed, Jr. and Sr. Y-Teens.

The purpose of the Jr. Organization is to create for sophomore girls a fellowship devoted to the principles of the Y.W.C.A. Through this purpose the development of individual character, service, and fellowship with others is stressed.

The activities include participation in central

"Y" Activities, such as, World Fellowship Week and Banquet, Washington trip and Inter-Club Council meetings and workshops.

Among other things, the club had a Christmas party for underprivileged children, a fashion show, an Easter Assembly presented by Senior and Junior Y-Teens, and a Coke party.

The meetings offered interesting programs and skits. Guest speakers were invited throughout the year.

The programs and projects helped to fulfill the purpose of the Y.W.C.A. among highschool girls.

Meetings and Projects

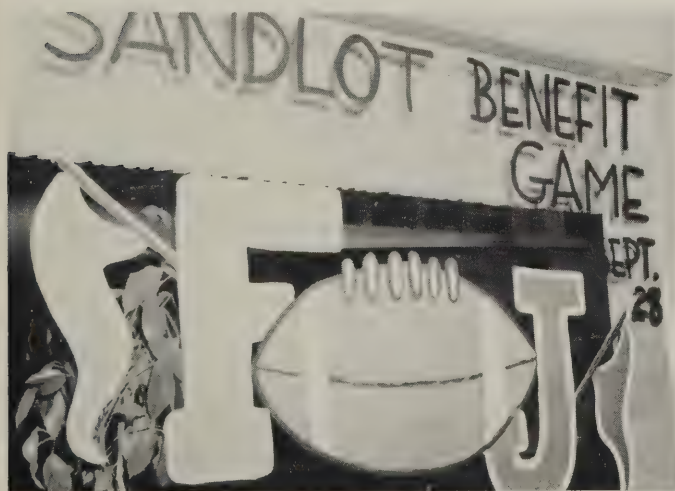

Members of the ART CLUB are Mrs. Richardson, advisor, Carol Sue Cassell, Maria Nichols, Linwood Hale, Becky Branscomb, Betty Dollman, Patti Price, Kay Nelson, Susie Jefferson, Leo Pagenhardt, Ellen Bollinger, Pam Miller, Emily Wersing, Lynn Pitzer, Billy Hoover, Jackie Preston, Steve Lindamood, John Brust.

The ART CLUB is organized for those students interested in arts and in furthering their ability outside the classroom. It is called on from time to time to aid other clubs with posters, decorations, etc. In the fall and spring, the club works on the illustrations and cover design for the Acorn Magazine.

The annual spring exhibit shows to other students the work that art students are doing. The Christmas party adds to our enjoyment as club members.

Sketching from life, are John Brust, Leonita Pagenhardt, Steve Lindamood, and Gloria Thompson. Maria Nichols serves as model.

Medalist honors at the Columbia Scholastic Press Association, and first place in the Southern Interscholastic Press Association were awarded to the JEFFERSON NEWS. Editing 18 issues a year, the staff works at a never-ending cycle. Sports, features, editorials, and school activities are brought to you as they happen.

Developing Talents in . . .

Above: All copy for the magazine has to go through the hands of typists Janice Boyd and Bonnie Epling.

Left: Art staff members Maria Nichols, Jackie Preston, S. Lindamood, Leonita Pagenhardt, Randy Bruce, John B. and Emily Wirsing, assisted by Miss Thackston, work on ACORN illustrations.

Below: Jo Whittle reads a short story to critical audience Judy Vanden, Nancy Walton, Carol Sumner, Mary Ann Howell, Bob Schaeffer, Nancy King, and Shirley Jordan.

. . . The Literary Field

"Ours is better," say staff members Gary McCown, Nellrena Jewell, Eddie Burnette, Sallie Owens, Kathryn Hylton, Suzanne Norman, Betty Sue Wyatt, Mickey White, Fred Bruney, Mike Becker, and Lamar Brittain, as they compare the ACORN to the magazines of other schools.

The publications known at Jefferson today are products of many years of expansion. From 1910 until the late nineteen-twenties the ACORN MAGAZINE and the Yearbook were combined. The pictures of school life and literary contributions were presented on a smaller scale. Now published separately, each one stands out in its own field.

The ACORN MAGAZINE gives Jeff's journalists the chance to express their own creative ideas. Short stories, poetry, and feature articles, offer channels for individual writing.

Students study the works of great authors for style and technique. This also serves to encourage desire to read. The class meets every day and individual criticism and participation become important aspects of the course.

The staff puts in endless hours behind the scenes rewriting and typing. With the able assistance of the art department, and Miss Hayward's advice, the final goal is reached. The magazine is published in the fall and spring with many students receiving the hard-earned award of seeing their own work in print.

Editor Nancy Walton takes time out from her never-ending work to give the camera a big smile. Nancy writes, corrects copy, and is Miss Hayward's mainstay. Upon her falls the burden of getting the magazine to press.

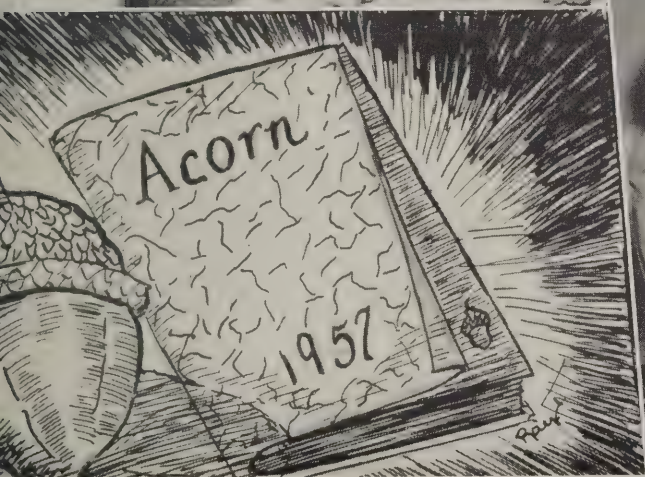

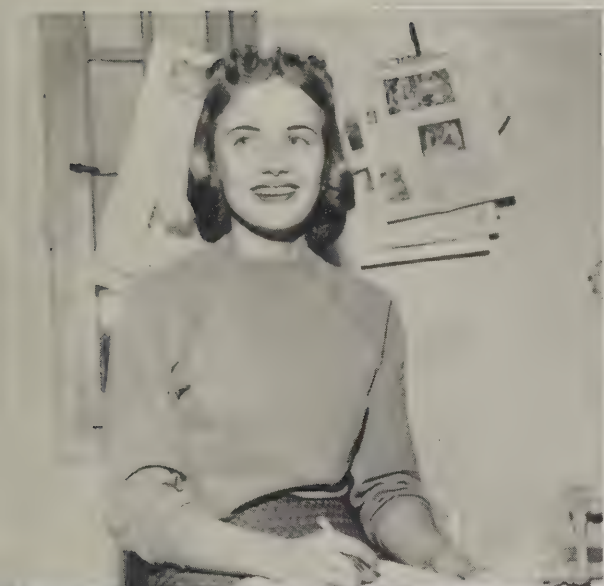

Hope You've Enjoyed . . .

The ACORN YEARBOOK is produced by a group of hard-working junior and senior students, striving to present to you a treasure-filled book of memories.

Starting at the upper left and reading clockwise, we find Mrs. Drewry, advisor, going over copy deadlines with Betty Sue Wyatt. Barbara Spiers and Diana Dodge work busily on classwork pages. The yearbook photographers, Eugene Crumpler and Bobby Hess, sort equipment in the darkroom. Loretta Morris and Alice Lowenstein put appointment slips for pictures in the teachers' boxes. Pictured lower left looking through yearbooks of other schools for new ideas are Sally Clement, Rosemary Jefferson, and Robert Leonard.

. . . The '57 ACORN

The yearbook, picturing every phase of school activity, is a diary of your life at Jefferson. We take pride in presenting to you the 1957 ACORN, a publication of which we hope you, too, are proud.

First off I want to tell you anything in the past, present or future I have said to or about you has been in angry anger or sarcasm!

We'd had barrels of fun this year. Missing, fighting & such when we were speaking. Don't forget our English test & S.I.P. W.C.

Good Luck to an all-around girl.

My dear Betty -
I have been wonderful knowing and going to school. Oh yes, remember all the trouble that I got into with Miss Galt. I was always good and was going to the hospital in another day.
Remember the first and every body that was silly! Our slumber party has it come yes, but what is the little house we have. I remember that the first day I was in the house. The first night there was a lot of fun as we were sad.
I was so happy. I had been waiting for you half year.
"Tudgy" Betty.

Betty, lots of happiness
To a very sweet girl.
I've enjoyed talking to
